

DISPLAY FRAME ALLOWING CHANGING OBJECTS SHOWN THEREIN

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A display frame allowing changing an object shown therein, the 5 frame comprises an outer frame member, an inner frame member and a box. The outer frame member can be separately mounted on the external periphery of the inner frame member, the box is connected to the rear side of the inner frame member and is open able and closable, the inner frame member is provided with a window in communicated with an 10 opening on the front side of the box. The box can place therein an object to be displayed, the box is provided therein on at least one side thereof with light sources for irradiating light on the object. The display frame is provided with a sensor which renders the light sources to emit light automatically when a person is getting close to the frame; the display 15 frame is applicable to displaying various commodities, collectibles, art works and souvenirs.

20

25